

1 Looking back

The Gilchrist & Soames Royal Collection pays tribute to the company's British heritage. It includes fragrances of white tea paired with citrus lemongrass, black pepper and white willow, balanced with amber and musk.

Gilchrist & Soames

www.gilchristsoames.com

3 Saving green

The Dial Eco-Smart Amenity Dispenser gives the hospitality industry the chance to save green by going green. Hotels can reduce their plastic waste by up to 90 percent and costs by at least 50 percent.

Henkel

www.henkelna.com

2 Keep it local

ReadyCare's redesigned Body Eclipse spa amenities line offers six fragrances that are made in America. The amenities are available in three different grades (Body Eclipse Natural, Body Eclipse Spa and Body Eclipse Club), and are all paraben and diethanolamine free.

ReadyCare

www.readycare.com

4 Soothing scents

Oliva Farmacia is an apothecary-inspired line with the fragrance blend of ginger root and bergamot. Formulas include olive oil. Bottles have dispensing flip caps and are made of soft-touch, squeezable polyethylene, making them readily recyclable.

Room Service Amenities

www.rsaroomservice.com

3 ATTRACTIVE ADD-ONS FOR YOUR HOTEL AMENITIES

- 1 A list of ingredients: Guests want to know what is in everything they use, from food to their bath amenities.
- 2 Biodegradable bottles: These are a better option for the environment and your bottom line.
- 3 Dispensers: Units are efficient and maintenance is easy.

Source: Hotels.com survey

IN-ROOM AMENITIES

Thanks to the internet, much of the mystery surrounding travel is gone. While guests still like to be surprised with an oceanfront view in their guestroom, they don't like too many surprises in their food sourcing, and this is extending to bath amenities. Travelers are more aware than ever before of what chemicals interact with their bodies, which is why an ingredients list is always a good idea for amenities, even if it allows a guest to nod along with the few ingredients they are familiar with. And in terms of sustainability, the options have never been better; with biodegradable bottles and waste-saving fixtures aplenty, there are fewer and fewer excuses not to go green in this department.